The Arrowhead 1960

Presented by The Senior Class of Old Fort High School Old Fort, North Carolina

> McDowell County Public Library 90 West Court Street Marion, NC 28752

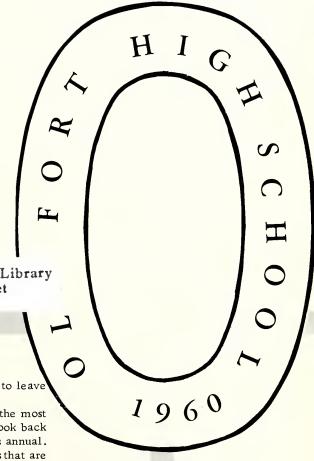

Foreword

Time is swiftly passing and it is time for us, the Seniors of 1960, to leave high school and go our separate ways.

We, the ARROWHEAD Staff, have tried to record some of the most precious moments of our lives, so that in years to come we might look back and enjoy anew our high school days by turning the pages of this annual.

We hope sincerely that this yearbook will recall memories that are priceless to each of us.

Mr. Grier's Message

It is very gratifying that each year more and more of the graduates of this school go to college. It is also very gratifying that our graduates make good records in college. This presents a challenge to you who are new in high school to prepare yourselves well and to plan to continue your education after graduation. If you will aim high and then proceed with determination, you can overcome almost any obstacle that might be in your way.

P.W. GREER Principal

For her unselfish efforts in the interest of progress for us; for her helpfulness, friendliness and for being a most understanding and cheerful person, we the Seniors of 1960, do proudly and gratefully dedicate this edition of the ARROWHEAD to our former teacher, MRS. MARLOWE, whom we all respect and love so dearly.

KENNETH EDWARD VESS

Class History

Back in 1948, we were 116 eager, yet somewhat apprehensive, young boys and girls setting out on a glorious twelve-year adventure. For some, it beganthe total formal preparation for life in this fast-moving space age. For others it was to be the stepping stone for additional training. For all of us, it was the gateway to a vast world of knowledge, which we opened little by little as we went along.

In the primary grades we give our thanks to those who taught us to read and write and find our way around school. The great event of entering high school was made possible by the nurture and guidance given us by those devoted teachers in the lower grades.

As we entered high school, our class of 96 students was divided into three sections with Mrs. Louise Haney, Mr. James Washburn and Mr. Donald Thomas as homeroom teachers. The changes from grammar school were great, but we adjusted quickly to the new situation. Class presidents for the year were Alice Banks, Harold Hensley and Robert Harris.

Our Sophomore yearwas filled with study as part of the class began preparing definitely for future and further education. The number in our class remained fairly stable this year. Gerry Bishop, Pat Allen and Tommy Lytle led us as class presidents, and homeroom teachers were: Mrs. Betty Marston, Mrs. Bula Taylor and Mrs. Haney.

When we became Juniors, we were elated and strove to contribute much that year. We even out sold the Seniors in the magazine sales campaign! Presenting the Junior play "Kissin' Cousin" under Mrs. Grace Taylor's direction helped raise money for the Junior-Senior Banquet, the highlight of the year. Under the guidance of Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Sadie Marlowe and Mr. Washburn, it was a busy year in our school life.

As we entered school last fall our number had dropped to 61; yet we are the largest graduating class in the history of the school. We have struggled through "Beowulf and Macbeth," isosles triangles, the Revolutionary and Civil Wars, magnesium chloride, the cause and cure of depression. However, we have only scratched the surface.

Highlight of this our Senior year is the class trip to Washington, climaxed by the Junior-Senior Banquet and graduation ceremonies. Mrs. Helen Shiflet and Mrs. Truby Painter have guided us this year and Butch Gibbs has served us well as class president. "All in the Family" was presented as the class play. College is in view for some of us; cherished memories are held by all of us. It is our hope that we shall have as much happiness in the future as we have had in the past twelve years.

We are the Junior Class of Old Fort High School. We began our Junior year with great anticipations. We recognized the fact that our ranking was next to the Seniors.

As Juniors we have had a very eventful year.

At the beginning of the year, we undertook several money-raising projects for funds for our Junior-Senior Banquet. One of the most important of these was our magazine sales. This proved very successful. Another was the Junior-Teacher ball game. Students enjoyed seeing teachers in this new role and they were surprised to find some "all-conference" players among the faculty. Probably the most enjoyable project was the Junior Play. The long, hard hours of practice were forgotten with the excitement of "opening night."

The success of our projects made possible a lovely banquet, that we hope will live in the memory of the Seniors as it will in ours.

Several of our classmates were honored for their academic accomplishments by being chosen as Marshals.

Exams, U.S. history, detention hall, ball games—victories and losses, and term papers are all memories of our Junior year.

This year was indeed all we had anticipated.

Now we are on the threshold of becoming Seniors-a goal for which we have diligently strived.

Sophomores look forward to being Juniors

Our Sophomore year brings us to the halfway mark in our high school education. We know now that we "belong" and this brings a very satisfactory feeling of security.

This year has already had its rewards. Those who have been wise in their study habits over the years have reaped the fruits of their labor by being inducted into the Beta Club. Then, too, there are many of us who have excelled in other fields. In our athletic program we are proud of those who have done so well. Nor would we forget to mention the boys and girls who go along from day to day doing his or her best to become worthy citizens.

Many of our Sophomores have another attainment which deserves our notice—we have our driver's license! That to us is a milestone in life. We hope that we do not underestimate the responsibility that it brings.

We also like to recall the feeling of unity that has become ours with both Sophomore sections organized under one president. We expect to maintain this togetherness throughout our high school days.

Our Sophomores are proving from day to day that they will become good seniors. We are accomplishing this through individual initiative which has already brought recognition to some of the members of our class.

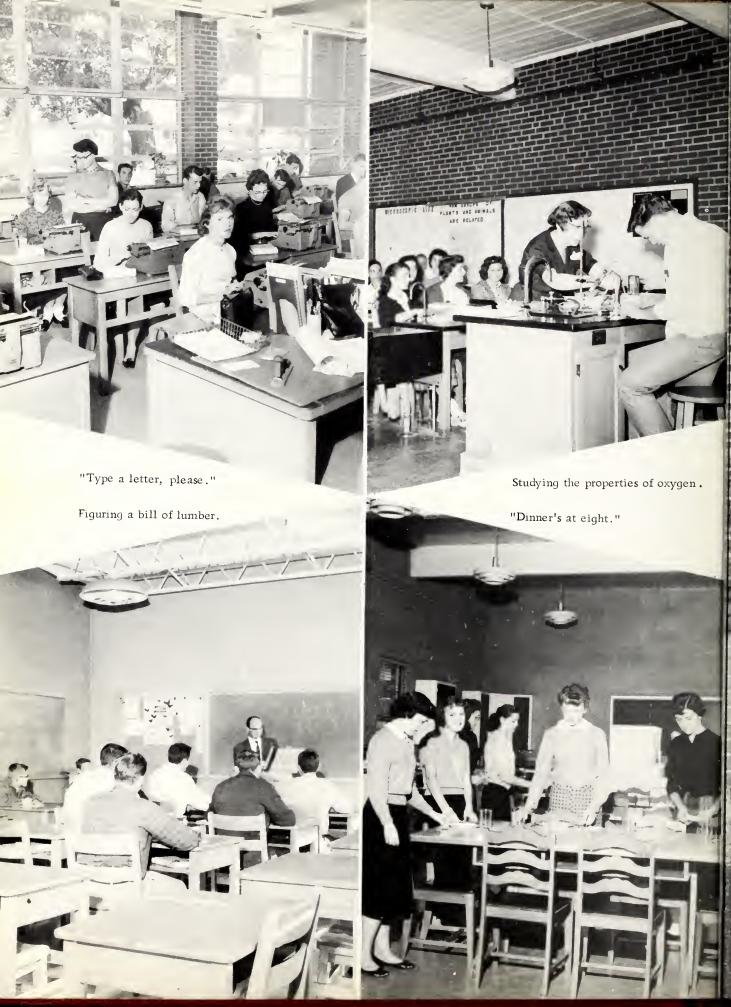

Freshmen enjoy high school

August 27, 1959 marked the beginning of a new and exciting school year for some eighty of us teenagers. Having completed eight years of grammar school in fine style, we were now pronounced full-fledged high school freshmen.

We had entered a new and somewhat strange world. Our one teacher had become several and we found ourselves meeting each subject in a different room. With locker number and combination in hand, we were obliged to spend some rather trying minutes before our lockers trying to discover the magic turn that would make our locks come open. We had the uneasy feeling that we were being "looked down upon" by the upperclassmen.

Soon, however, any apprehensions we may have had about high school soon vanished. We quickly mastered the art of being in the right place at the right time with the right book. The upperclassmen no longer seemed like strangers and became old friends willing to help when we ran into difficult situations. Without hardly realizing it, we had settled down into the routine of classes and assignments. The clubs and other extracurricular activities proved quite inviting and the enrollments of the various organizations found quite a few freshmen names.

The weeks have passed quickly with studies and activities since those first few weeks of initiation. We are looking forward eagerly to our future years in school and to being the Class of '63.

Office Staff assists principal, teachers and students.

The school office—a clearing-house for a million services. Here the school bus drivers come each morning to check in and to report any difficulties either with the bus or on it. Here, too, the students bring their variety of excuses for being absent or tardy, or for leaving school.

The high school girls who work in the office will always be grateful for the intercommunication system which saves them many steps delivering the telephone messages which come to the office.

To the office comes the money collected throughout the school, such as book rentals and fees; school store, lunchroom, and ball game receipts; and numerous miscellaneous funds all to be counted, wrapped, and delivered to the bank daily.

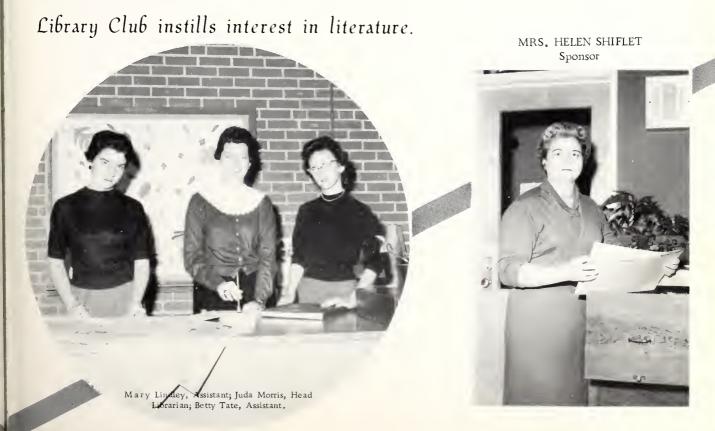

To this small room come the numerous reports, requests, and complaints of thirty-eight teachers and each is given careful condiseration by a capable administrator with the help of the generous office workers.

1959 Skyline conference champions

The year of 1959 was a great year for the Redskin's football team. This year they claimed their first Skyline Conference Championship by winning five conference games against no losses.

The team was manned with seasoned performers and no single player seemed to outshine the other. Each game seemed to produce a new star. The small things, unnoticed by the fans, that produce this winner were many. The perfection blocking of our great line of McCauley, Gibbs, Freeman, Lytle, Walker, Carr and Wilson, opened upbig holes for our backs. The play calling and deft ball handling of Quarterback, Mike Teague, as well as Hensley, Harris, and Padgham always fighting for Burgin, Robertson and Rhinehardt can not be overlooked in giving credit to a sucessful season. Three of our players received area recognition of their play. Tom Carr, Harold Hensley and Tommy Lytle were selected on the conference team. Tom Carr was also selected on the "Times" all W.N.C. team.

Girls have successful year in Basketball.

Old Fort's girls lost five players by graduation and are rebuilding this year. The 1959-60 Indian maidens are led by Co-Captains DeLois Harris and Kaye Burgin, two of Western North Carolina's finest girl athletes. Old Fort's girls have astonished everyone by winning their first six games, including a victory over powerful Salem, one of North Carolina's best girl teams annually. This fine start has served notice on other Skyline and McDowell Conference schools that Old Fort is hard to beat. The Old Fort Girls are the youngest team in either conference and could develop a powerful basketball dynasty if they follow up what they are now doing. Coach Griffin states that a tremendous desire to win and a fine co-operative effort has been the key to the success of the girls this season.

Jim Smith, Steve McCauley, Co-Captains; Curley Elliott, Jerry Edwards, Mike Teague, Eddie Rhinehardt, Dan Grindstaff, Butch Gibbs, Wayne Allen, Richard Padgham.

Boys show ability and sportsmanship.

The Old Fort Redskins have most of last year's squad returning. The biggest loss was playmaker Locke Kelley who moved to Arizona. The loss of several promising freshmen from last year's team also hurt the Redskins cage chancer. Even considering the above mentioned losses Old Fort has exceptionally good talent. The Redskins won five of their first six games this year and have not had the hard practice opportunities of their opponents. There is a general feeling around Old Fort that if the 1959-60 Redskins live up to their potential, they would become the best team in Old Fort's History and the sky would be the limit of their accomplishments. Big Jim Smith has developed into the big gun of the Redskins this season. Mike Teague, Wayne Allen, Eddie Rhinehardt and Dan Grindstaff round out the starting five at this time. SteveMcCauley, Harold Hensley, Butch Gibbs, and Richard Padgham give nine goodexperienced players. A fine group of sophomores and freshmen promise to help the Redskin's bandwagon rolling for years to come.

Track '59

1959 was Old Fort's first year in track. The team under Coach Washburn engaged in two triangular meets with Drexel and Oak Hill. The Redskins didwell for themselves by taking second place in the first meet and taking first place in the second meet.

The events that we participated in were the sprints, middle distance runs, mile run and the field events of high jump, broad jump and shot put.

Library Scene MRS. RUTH HORNADAY Librarian

The elementary library of Old Fort School has a teacher—librarian, for the first time this year. Mrs. Hornaday has a staff of student librarians from the High School to help her. They work at the desk and help with the other chores. These workers include the following: Alice Harris, Faye Burgin, Ann Hensley, Carolyn Moore, Kathryn Hudgins, Christine Hampton, Iris Clontz, Nancy Cathy, Hazel Coates, and Shirley Davis.

The library has a total of 4700 volumes and has an average of 200 volumes in circulation each day.

All grades have a library period each week. This period is used to exchange library books and for lessons on the use of the library.

For the first time many children are finding the library is more than a place to check out books. It is a source of information, adventure, excitement, and ple asure.

The Painter,

Shave enjoyed having yon as a teacher
this year. Although, I don't see how you could stand us while eve evere running of the paper, but you could alwarp smile and help us in our egnorant mistakes. May Last nichly hluss you. I wish you and your family as much happiness and success that this world affordsyou are very asserving.
